

Abundance

I am not choosing temporary abundance which is going to come in future, but i am choosing permanent abundance which is here and now, that is omnipresent energy which can take any form instantly. This energy is available in past present and future. explain

Omnipresent abundance

- Shifting from the belief in temporary abundance (that will come in the future) to permanent, omnipresent abundance (available here and now). This shift enables you to align with the true nature of abundance.
- It is an energy that is always present and accessible. This energy can take any form—whether it's health, wealth, love, or success—at any given moment.

Let's break this down further to understand how this works:

Omnipresent Energy: The Universal Flow of Abundance

- Abundance is often seen as something we must achieve or manifest. It's viewed as something that may come to us in the future or only under certain conditions.
- However, true abundance is not bound by time or circumstances. It is an omniscient, omnipresent energy.
- This energy is available in the past, present, and future because it is a constant force of the universe.
- This energy of abundance can take any form, whether it's health, wealth, relationships, success, or joy.
- It can show up at any moment, depending on what you align with.
- It doesn't require you to "get to the right place" in life or overcome specific conditions. Abundance is available here and now.
- Abundance is not limited to money—it is a vast, multi-dimensional force that manifests in many areas of life.
- Money is simply one form of abundance, but love, health, creativity, joy, and opportunities are just as abundant and just as important in our overall well-being.

The Energy of Abundance is Timeless: Past, Present, and Future

Past:

- Abundance has always been available to you, even during times when it felt out of reach.
- Every experience in your life, whether you viewed it as positive or negative, has contributed to your unfolding abundance.

- You have always been connected to the universal flow of energy.
- The past has shaped the person you are today. Even the challenges you've faced were part of the process of learning to access and align with this ever-present energy.
- Example: When you reflect on past successes, you may realize that everything you achieved came from moments of flow or alignment. Even if it wasn't obvious at the time, those moments were key.
- Recognizing that abundance was available to you in the past helps you understand that it was always there. It was guiding you, supporting you, and empowering you throughout your journey.

Present:

- Abundance is available to you right now. The present moment holds all the power. It is in this moment that you can feel and tap into the energy of infinite possibilities.
- When you choose to embrace the idea that abundance is a constant, flowing energy, you begin to realize that it is always accessible in the here and now.
- For example, by affirming in the present tense—such as, "I am abundant," or "I am healthy, wealthy, and successful right now"—you instantly align with the energy of abundance.
- You are not waiting for the future to bring you what you desire. Instead, you are claiming it now, because the energy of abundance is available to you in this moment.

Future (Transcending Time):

- The future holds no separation from abundance because the energy is timeless.
- By aligning with this energy now, you are already setting the stage for a future that unfolds in abundance.
- The future does not have to be a time when abundance “finally” arrives. Instead, it is the natural continuation of the abundant flow you are already part of.
- For example, you don't need to wait for the future to bring you health, wealth, or success.
- By affirming that you are already aligned with your highest potential now, you are ensuring that the future will reflect the abundance you claim in the present.

Omnipresent Energy Can Take Any Form Instantly

- Abundance is not limited by time or space. It can manifest instantly and in any form.
- You do not need to wait for certain conditions to align before abundance appears.

- It can take the shape of anything you desire right now, depending on where you focus your energy.
- For example, if you need financial abundance, it may appear as unexpected opportunities, a new job offer, an influx of clients, or even a creative idea for a business.
- If you seek health, it may show up as a sudden burst of energy, a new health regime, or healing.
- If you desire love, it can manifest through deeper connections with those around you or even through meeting new people who resonate with your vibration.
- The key is that abundance can take any form and does not need to follow a linear timeline.
- You do not have to wait for a “perfect moment” in the future. The abundance you seek can appear now because you are aligning with the omnipresent energy of the universe.

Choosing Permanent Abundance vs. Temporary Abundance

- Temporary abundance is when you believe that what you desire will only come to you after specific conditions are met or at a particular moment in the future.
- This mindset limits your potential because it makes you see abundance as something you have to earn or wait for.
- In contrast, permanent abundance is when you understand that abundance is already available, right here and now. It's part of the universal energy that flows through everything.
- You don't need to wait for a specific moment in time for it to come to you. Instead, you choose to step into that flow and recognize that everything you desire is already accessible to you in this very moment.
- For example, if you're seeking financial abundance, temporary abundance means you're waiting for a specific job or business opportunity to bring you money. Permanent abundance, however, means recognizing that wealth is available to you right now. You can attract it instantly by aligning your thoughts, feelings, beliefs, and actions with the energy of prosperity.

How to Align with Omnipresent Abundance:

Feelings:

- Your feelings are the most immediate way to align with abundance. You need to feel abundant right now.
- This means cultivating feelings of gratitude, fulfillment, and joy, regardless of your external circumstances.

- When you feel abundant, you align with the energy that attracts more abundance into your life.

Thoughts:

- Thoughts create your reality. If you constantly think that abundance is something that will only come later, you are reinforcing a future-focused mindset.
- Instead, shift your thoughts to affirmations that reflect abundance in the present: “I am abundant now,” “I am worthy of limitless wealth,” “My health is thriving.”

Beliefs:

- Your beliefs shape your experience. If you believe that abundance is a far-off possibility, you are not fully tapping into the power of the present moment.
- Shift your beliefs to understand that abundance is omnipresent, available now, and flowing through you. The more you believe it, the more you will experience it.

Actions:

- Taking inspired action in the present moment is crucial. This means acting as if abundance is already here.
- You don't wait for a specific condition to change; you align with abundance through your actions—whether it's through investments, self-care practices, nurturing relationships, or pursuing new opportunities.

The Result: A Life of Limitless Possibility

- When you align with the energy of omnipresent abundance, you begin to live in a state of flow.
- You no longer see challenges or setbacks as obstacles. Instead, you understand them as part of the ongoing process of aligning with greater abundance. You become open to receiving.
- You know that abundance is not something you have to fight for or wait for. It is something that flows through you and into your life, in countless forms.
- This shift in mindset, from believing that abundance is something to be achieved in the future to knowing it is available here and now, allows you to step into a life of limitless potential.
- Every moment becomes an opportunity to tap into that energy. It's a chance to create what you want and align with the best version of yourself.
- Abundance is no longer a destination. It's the journey itself.

Unlimited abundance and Pure energy

- Unlimited abundance and pure energy are closely related, but they aren't exactly the same.
 - Unlimited abundance refers to the idea that there is an endless flow of resources, opportunities, and possibilities available to us in life.
 - It's about a mindset of openness and receptivity to the richness of life in all forms—whether it's material, emotional, or spiritual.
- Pure energy is the basic life force or the source of everything in the universe. It is the flow of power and life that is behind all things.
 - Unlimited abundance can be seen as something that comes from this pure energy.
 - In other words, pure energy is the core that makes all abundance possible.
- In essence, unlimited abundance is the expression of pure energy in the material world.
 - They are interconnected, but pure energy is the foundation, and abundance is one of its many outcomes.

Summary:

- By choosing to recognize that abundance is omnipresent, timeless, and available in the past, present, and future, you begin to experience life through a lens of infinite possibility.
- You are no longer waiting for something to "arrive" in the future. Instead, you align with the omnipresent energy of abundance right now, knowing that it can take any form—health, wealth, love, success—instantly.
- This shift in consciousness occurs when you affirm your alignment with abundance in the present moment.
- It empowers you to experience a life that is rich with limitless potential and deep fulfillment.
